

Presentation, 5%

Students work in groups of up to to four people.

Assignment: Choose a scene from the book and present it in class in any way you choose. Here are a few possibilities:

Writing:

A screenplay for a short film

An interview with one of the characters

A diary based on one of the characters

A poem

A magazine article – tabloid or conventional

Activities:

Put on a play

A radioprogram

A comic strip

Make a film and show it in class.

Write a song and lyrics and perform it in class.

If none of these is acceptable you can make a traditional written presentation or slide show, make a poster or something of that kind. The point is to be creative and have some unexpected twist to the project.

In the end each group reports on their work to the other students – not exactly a lecture as such, more of a way of showing off to the other students in the class.
